Mr. Ed. Mallet.

Dear friend, while I have the opportunity this evening I will take my pen in hand with pleasure, and write a few lines to you hoping they will find you enjoying good health, as we are at present. Mr. Mallet, I will ask a favor of you, and that is this. could you help me in getting a position of some kind? I will now try to earn my own living and hope I will succeed in getting a place at some school, as cook, laundress, or seamstress and matron too; I would like any one of these places, if I have the chance of getting it, and I sincerely hope that I will get it, and will be ever so much obliged to you for helping me, and will now close with love from all the girls, they often speak of you. Lucy sends her love. Fanny Dove
